

Decoding Dyslexia Wisconsin

October is Dyslexia Awareness Month

There are significant implications to children if they do not learn to read in October 2015 the 114th Congress passed a Senate Resolution on Dyslexia naming October Dyslexia Awareness Month. In Support, Decoding Dyslexia Wisconsin wants to:

- Raise awareness for struggling readers and dyslexics
- Share resources that can be helpful for families, teachers, early education specialists, school personnel, and speech pathologists.

Dyslexic authors include:
Avi
Scott Adams
Jeanne Betancourt
Octavia Butler
Agatha Christie
Roald Dahl
F Scott Fitzgerald
Fannie Flagg
Sally Gardner
Ernest Hemingway
John Irving
Dav Pilkey
Patricia Polacco
Ann Rice
JK Rowling
Charles Schulz
George Bernard Shaw
Jules Verne
WB Yeats

Reference Books about Dyslexia:
Marilyn Adams	“Beginning to Read Thinking and Learning about Print”
Dana Buchman	“A Special Education: One Family's Journey through the Maze of Learning Disabilities”
Cynthia Coletti	“Blueprint for a Literate Nation”
Brock Eide M.D. & Fernette Eide M.D.	“The Dyslexic Advantage”
Brock Eide M.D. & Fernette Eide M.D.	“The Mislabeled Child”
Dave Edyburn	“Assistive Technology”
Ben Foss	“The Dyslexic Empowerment Plan”
Mary Farrell	“Ready to Read”
Kelli Sandman Hurley	“Dyslexia Advocate”
Marcia Henry	“Unlocking Literacy”
Diana Hanbury King	“A Guide to Helping Your Child at Home Developing Foundational Skills in Reading and Writing”
Ruth Lature	“Dyslexia a Teacher’s Journey”
Louisa Moats	“Speech to Print: Language Essentials for Teachers”
Nancy Mather	“Essentials of Dyslexia Assessment and Intervention”
Margaret Byrd Rawson	“Dyslexia over the Lifespan a fifty-five-year longitudinal study”
Dr.’s Shaywitz	“Overcoming Dyslexia”
Dehaene Stanislas	“Reading in the Brain”
Mark Seidenberg	“Language at the Speed of Sight”
Maryanne Wolf	“Proust and the Squid”

Books with Dyslexic Characters:	Books with Dyslexic Characters:
Jeanne Betancourt	“My name is Brain Brian”
Joan Bauer	“Close to Famous”
Aiden Colvin	“Looking for Heroes”
Barbra Esham	“If you are so smart why can’t you spell Mississippi?”
Patricia Riley Gif	“Eleven”
Kate Gaynor	“Tom’s Special Talent”
Lynda Mullaly Hunt	“Fish in a Tree”
Mike Lupica	“Two Minute Drill”
Helen Lester	“Author”
Helen Lester	“Tacky the Penguin”
Jennifer Moore Mallinos	“It’s called Dyslexia”
Patricia Polacco	“Thank you Mr. Falker”
Rick Riordan	“Percy Jackson and the Olympians”
Henry Winkler	“Hank Zipzer Series”

OCTOBER IS

DYSLEXIA
AWARENESS
MONTH